PROFILE

Creative director and brand builder, architect by training. I turned an initial USD 800 investment into a direct-to-consumer streetwear brand with approximately USD 800K in cumulative revenue, 70,000+ organic followers, and a New York Fashion Week presence. I pair art direction and commercial judgment with in-house AI production systems, built on generative image, video, and node-and-agent pipelines that replace studios and agencies while holding full brand control. Architecture taught me to map constraints, structure systems, and judge the full process, not isolated outputs. Fluent in English, Spanish, and Portuguese.

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA · REMOTE / INTERNATIONAL · @BEYOND.STW

- Turned an initial USD 800 investment into approximately USD 800K in cumulative revenue over five years, generating 15,000+ orders across 40+ drops and 385 products brought to market.
- Built and led an organic community of 70,000+ followers with no paid audience acquisition.
- Defined brand positioning and directed the full creative ecosystem: brand identity, collections, campaigns, art direction, storytelling, content, email and influencer marketing, and paid social creative.
- Led a multidisciplinary team of up to seven, coordinating suppliers, production, content, and campaign execution.
- Presented a 10-look collection at New York Fashion Week 2025, leading creative concept, show production, garment development, logistics, and coordination. Coverage secured in La Nación, one of Argentina's largest national newspapers.
- Built an in-house AI creative production system integrating generative image and video models (Midjourney, Flux, Higgsfield, Runway, Kling, ComfyUI, Weavy) into a single workflow that produces campaign and product visuals with no studio, photographer, or external agency.
- Cut production cost from USD 500 to USD 80 per shoot and turnaround from 10 business days to 2 days, holding full creative control in-house.
- Built a node-and-agent pipeline with Claude Code and a creative-intelligence workflow that reads category advertising and turns the patterns into original, on-brand briefs, moving production from manual work to a repeatable system.
